

Tea Party Mission Statement and Rules

Mission Statement

Our goal is to provide a venue for a peaceful, public display of the once “Silent Majority’s” new found voice. For too long we have been referred to as ‘fly over country’ and treated as a group by elected officials as one of no consequence. To quote a nationally known Senator recently “So what there’s a little pork in that bill; the American people don’t care”.

We need to let that Senator and all others in elected office know that may have been true in the past, but we will not let it be true henceforth!

Before our Constitution was ratified by the 13 original states, the Bill of Rights was demanded to be added. Those first 10 Amendments to the Constitution were all to be individual rights, never to be violated. Our forefathers had lived through and recognized the dangers of arrogance, ego and power; they foresaw what the future might bring. They left us with protections and we now demand those protections be honored according to the original intent of the founders.
